TEACHERS COLLEGE IS MARCHING ON IMPROVEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE

Over 500 Men and Women Enrolled Here, Studying To Be Teachers.

Georgia Teachers College, the co-educational teachers college of the state, is now rated as one of the leading institutions of teacher training in the southeastern part of the United States.

The college was established here in 1908 as a District A. & M. School. In 1924 the school was made a Normal School, and in 1929, after the school was converted into a four-year college, the first degree class was graduated and the name changed to the South Georgia Teachers College. This fall the word "South" was dropped by the Board of Regents, since the college is the only teachers college in the state.

The growth and development of this college has been remarkable. This is seen in the increased enrollment, the construction of new buildings, the magnificent band and chorus, paving projects, and many other things.

ENROLLMENT

The enrollment has been increasing for a number of years. This fall more than 500 men and women are being trained to teach. The majority of these students are working for a B. S. Degree.

RECENT BUILDING

Since 1934, when Dr. Pittman came to the college as president, two residence halls, a library and a laboratory school have been erected, and a water works system installed. During this period the Administration Building has been completely remodeled and a new roof added. Anderson Hall, East and West, and the Science Building have also been remodeled recently. A number of smaller buildings have been constructed on the campus, including a store and postoffice.

PAVING PROJECT

A number of new roads on the campus are to be paved soon. These new roads were necessitated because of the increase in buildings on the campus.

BAND AND CHORUS

T. C. can boast of a fine thirty-six piece band. Under the direction of Mr. Ernest Harris, the band promises to give an excellent account of itself this year.

The college chorus can hardly be excelled. With thirty old members

The five ranking in each of the tests are:

THE STAFF GROWS

The first issue of the George-Anne carried only the name of the editor and business manager. This week, the second issue, fourteen names have been added, which make up the editorial staff at this time. More names will be added, we hope. Anyone in college interested many contribute to the college paper. Only those who contribute will be made members of the staff. There will be no "deadwood" on the staff. Get busy, see the editor, contribute.

WELCOME TEACHERS

Seventy faculty members and over five hundred students of Georgia Teachers College extend a hearty welcome to teachers in the First District as they gather on our campus today for their regional meeting.

Georgia Teachers College, in the center of the First District, geographically, and in the center of the state, educationally, is the logical place for school teachers to gather.

The George-Anne extends a welcome to all teachers in the state to visit the college anytime—visit the classes, the residence halls, the library—and see a modern teacher training institution in action.

The George-Anne and students of Teachers College are proud of the progress the school has made. We are proud of our buildings, our campus, our President and other administrative officers, our faculty, our Alumni, and the high place our school holds among southern teacher training institutions. We want every teacher not only in the First District but over the entire state to know that we are proud of our college.

ATHLETIC INTEREST

Athletics are a necessary part of any students college life. In the past the spirit of our students has been sadly lacking. It is to the interest of you and this school that this spirit becomes more manifest. Take an active part in all intra-mural sports. Also give our team the backing that it deserves.

Diggings

Ask Tommy Gray why she's stopped playing children's games in from of East Hall after supper.

What about the freshman boy who was worried sick the first week. He couldn't make up his mind which fraternity to join.

Say, you cheer leaders, what about some pep for the next game?

We hear Major threatened to give Betty Winn's ring back. More Power to you.

Did you see Miss Knight at the game Saturday? Or did you see Miss Bragg hang his dress on the fence?

It's good to know that Marjorie Forehand is still interested in Extra-curricular activities.

What will all the boys do now that Marie Pearson goes to play practice every night?

Warning, freshman girls. Dr. Destler's winking it just a habit. We hear that some of you have been winking back.

At last we know the reason for Freshman and Sophomore Physical Ed. It is to get in shape for Junior and Senior dates.

Did you know Miss Veasey patrols the campus? This is to whom it may concern.

What's there to this Layton-Wyatt thing? What about it, Girlie?

Wonder why Margaret Brown goes to all the high school football games?

We think Anne Fulcher should be able to distinguish between freshmen and faculty members.

Could it be that Miss Edenfield was Veazy-ing around the theatre last Friday night? We could take a Peg at it if it wouldn't Mar our character.

Some of these freshmen girls don't understand that their own room is a place to do things that can't be done in other rooms.

Our selection for the boner of the week: "D. R., will you have something to eat?"

Freshmen hog the dirt column, but what about the one who thought "Romance Languages" meant the language of love? Maybe Mr. Cassanova Turner's classes will swell in enrollment.

Could it have been an ulterior motive that made Elizabeth Cato have such difficulty getting the match box off the nose of our handsome administrator?

Ah!! These Cuban boys!!! The line they had would hook the biggest sucker in the sea. The male element of the campus could well take lessons on the "Romance of Romance Languages." What about it, kids?

Ask Roy Sumner how to treat a roomy when a pretty girl is involved.

My dears! Didn't Joana King and her court look stunning at the ball game?

There is the story going around that one of the Sandfordites would like to be an Eppie. We wonder who keeps black balling him.

THINGS SPIRITUAL

By LOY SCOTT

"What is thy name?" (Mark 5:9).

I had returned from prayer meeting one evening, and had parked the car in the driveway just off the pavement of a highway. My mother and father had accompanied me to the prayer services, and I had parked in front of their home to let them out of the car before going into the city to my home. Father had stepped out of the car and was standing near it when a car ran off the highway and hit my car, knocking it against dad. The car which did the damage stopped a few steps from where it collided with mine. The driver was a woman who was under the influence of whiskey, and as I approached her she began to say, "Don't tell anyone my name. Don't ask me what my name is."

In this passage of Scripture, Jesus asked this boy who was possessed by the devil, "What is thy name?" This woman was devil-possessed, and ashamed to tell her name. She was injuring her name. She did not want herself photographed at this moment; she wasn't fixed. Most people want to be "fixed" before they have their picture made. The best thing to do is to stay "fixed" and the only way to acquire this is to keep busy doing something really worth while.

"WHAT IS THY NAME?"

Results of Student Survey Are Given

The influence of former T. C. students was given as the dominant reason for new students entering Georgia Teachers College, in a survey conducted in chapel recently by Dr. Marvin S. Pittman. This reason was given many times more by new students than the two reasons which tied for second place. The influence of parents, and the nearness of the college to the students home, was second.

Many other reasons were given by the students, and among them were: the desire to teach; the influence of present students; the college faculty; the cheapness of tuition, and general publicity.

Six Lyceum Numbers For T. C. Students

Six lyceum attractions have been arranged for the students of Georgia Teachers College for this school year, 1939-1940, according to Dean Z. S. Henderson. The exact dates of some of these programs have not been set as yet, but announcements will be made later.

Carlton Palmer will present an art lecture on November 27. On January 5th there will be an illustrated lecture by Anita Burnham Willetts. The University of Michigan Symphony Orchestra will play here February 9.

A piano recital by Hugh Hodgson, a dance recital by Edwin Strawbridge and Sue Hasting's Marionette show round out the lyceum program. As yet the dates for these attractions have not been set.

SPORTOLOGY

Football is in the air! Where? Where? Right here, Georgia Teachers College. With two consecutive home victories the Profs are on the war path.

The international contest with the University of Havana turned out to be a gala affair. The band, led by a trio of flags displaying the spirit of friendliness, paraded at the half. This, however, was only a sidelight to the game which was played. This column has never seen a match possessed of so much sportmanship. The Cuban boys lived up to predictions and fought like soldiers; they even had the Cuban consul from Savannah as a supporter, but this did not stop our boys. The whole occasion was running along smoothly until some inquisitive freshman asked would there have to be a treaty to end the game.

T. C.'s defeat against Stetson was an eye-opener for Coach Smith's boys. We suggest that if any game this season is lost according to score but not spirit, that the president count up the victories and forget the other list.

In two home games the Teachers have not been scored upon. Jody Robertson and "Peck" Hamil have been bearing a big responsibility, they being two T. C. veterans in the line. In the Alabama-T. C. game we saw big Charlie Smith and Horne played a jam up game. Now let's pause to look over Paschal. In the Cuban game he was in on a majority of the tackles when T. C. punted. Sally Davis doesn't find enough work in tackling, but he finds time in between whistles to aid our defense.

A blocked punt is one of the best mechanisms in football. Big "Gas House" Parker, a great pass snatcher, has blocked several punts this year. In two games T. C. made two touchdowns by this strategy. Punting, often thought of as only defensive play, has been one of our best offensive weapons. Rountree and Langley have showed much skill in punting near the end zones. Cox, hulu zag runner, and Hall, the zip passer, are now in top form. We expect to hear much from Cason in the next few games.

It is certain that Coach Smith has no certain starting line up. He has about twenty-six men who are scrapping every day for a position on the team. We can safely say that any one of these twenty-six men may be playing sixty minutes of football before Thanksgiving. As has been seen, our second line up against Cuba held their ground. Let's watch these boys who are the backbone of our team. One of these may be stepping out in front at any time.

Pianist: "What's that, you always say 'yes' when a man winks at you?"

Singer: "Yes, an eye for eye is my motto."

TEACHERS DEFEAT
CARIBES BY 14-0

By playing an excellent brand of football, the blue and white boys succeeded in turning back the University of Havana 14-0 on the local football field. On several occasions the Cubans threatened to score, but T. C.'s line never slackened enough to permit it.

Havana kept possession of the ball most of the first quarter. In the second period the Teachers carried the ball to the two yard line and fumbled. The Caribes punted to the forty yard line. In a series of plays Ellison and Rountree ran the ball back to the one yard line. On the third down Rountree plunged for a touchdown and then made the extra point.

Early in the third quarter T. C. scored again when Davis ran a blocked punt to the six yard line. On the next play, a T. C. fumble placed the ball on the ten yard line. Then Parker snatched a twenty-five yard pass from Cox for the touchdown. Parker booted the extra point. In the last quarter both teams fought desperately for a touchdown but neither met with success. In the last few minutes of the game the Professors' reserves saw plenty of action. They succeeded in holding their ground. Paschal, Teacher end, played a superior defensive game. T. C.'s entire line displayed improved strength.

and sixty new ones, the chorus this year promises to be the best yet. The college is fortunate in having a chorus director as capable and efficient as Mr. Ronald J. Neil, who came to G. T. C. after being a member of the Iowa University faculty.

FOOTBALL

Georgia Teachers College is making a name for itself this fall on the gridiron. Coach B. L. Smith has a very heavy and hard working squad of boys with which to work. What promises to be one of the highlights of this season was the Professors' 14-0 victory over the University of Havana, Cuba, two weeks ago.

FACULTY

Last, but not least, is G. T. C.'s excellent faculty. Under the leadership of Dr. Pittman, the faculty consists of sixty-seven men and women who are suited in intellectual ability, personal characteristics, and specialized professional equipment for the work they are doing.

Getting a man to kiss you is done by using your come-on sense.

T. C. VICTORIOUS
OVER JAX PROFS

In the first home game of the season, the Georgia Profs defeated the Jacksonville, Alabama, Profs 13-0. The game was fast considering the intense heat which was prevalent throughout the contest.

The first quarter was marked by an exchange of punts. In the second quarter T. C. gained the upperhand and this resulted in a touchdown. Parker, T. C. end, blocked an Alabama punt close to the goal line. Pafford picked the ball up and carried it over for a score. The try for the extra point was no good.

The Teachers of Collegeboro scored again as a result of a thirty yard pass from Rountree to Parker. Rountree's placement kick was good for the extra point.

Langley for T. C., who did his share of the punting, played a remarkable game at center.

REFLECTOR PICTURES

The Gaspar-Ware Studio, of Atlanta, college photographic specialists, have been secured to make the pictures for the 1940 Reflector. This studio has contracts with many other southern colleges.

Students may be assured this year that the photographic work in the annual will be the best available in the south.

Blue Tide Loses
Hard Fought Game

The Blue Tidemen lost a hard fought game to the Troy, Alabama, Teachers in Dothan, Alabama, Thursday night 7 to 6.

The extra point decided the game Thursday evening, which had been a nip and tuck battle from the beginning. Neither team threatened until the final period. Langley caught a pass and ran sixty yards for the Teachers' score. The try for extra point was no good. With only a few seconds to play, a husky Alabama boy ran far back in his own territory to the Teachers' three yard line and the Alabamians bucked over from that point.

The Tidemen returned to practice Monday in preparation for the Friday afternoon game with South Georgia State in Douglas.

The next home game is scheduled for November 4, with Snead College.

Miss Vandiver is a popular student here, and holds several other responsible positions on the campus. She has also maintained a high scholastic average throughout her college career. Mr. Ramsey, too, has been a popular student here for the past three years. He has been engaged in a number of extra-curricula activities, and has held several prominent positions on the campus.

A NEW NAME

This college begins its first session under its new name—Georgia Teachers College. "Great oaks from little acorns grow." Such is the life story of this institution. It began as a District Agricultural high school. Then it became a regional normal school, then regional teachers college. It is now the co-educational Teachers College of Georgia. The growth of its graduating classes shows its growth in the confidence of the teaching profession of Georgia. The teachers believe it is a good college in which to secure a degree.

Here is the record: 1929, 4; 1930, 8; 1931, 22; 1932, 15; 1933, 24; 1935, 57; 1936, 54; 1937, 44; 1938, 85; 1939, 98.

Under its new name and with its excellent facilities, it is expected that its inspiring record of the past ten years is but a prophecy of its future.

DEAN HENDERSON GIVES FINE TALK

Dean Henderson made a most inspiring talk at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday night in Sanford Hall. His subject was, "A Concept of God."

The devotional was led by Rev. Loy Scott, who is a student at this college.

About thirty young men were extended membership cards by the organization.

Much more interest is being shown in the Y. M. C. A. this year than has been done in previous years.
